General Information

Short summary

A German producer of hand finished sport balls offers a range that includes medicine balls, throwing balls, gym balls, and acoustic balls for blind sports such as Goalball. The company seeks cooperation with potential clients like sports clubs, sports equipment retailers, Goalball organisations, and wholesalers to expand its international reach.

Full description

The manufacturer produces a broad selection of sport balls made from natural rubber and other durable materials. The product portfolio covers gym and exercise balls, medicine balls, throwing and sling balls, and specialised acoustic balls for Goalball and Torball, which are equipped with internal bells to support athletes with visual impairments. Production involves significant manual work to ensure consistent quality and long term durability.

The products are used in general sports training, school sports, club activities, rehabilitation, physiotherapy and inclusive sports programmes. Acoustic balls are supplied internationally and are recognised in blind sports. Partners receive technical information and product data to support sales and customer advice.

The company aims to strengthen its presence in foreign markets by cooperating with organisations that can reach end users, sports associations, retailers and wholesalers.

Advantages and innovations

- Hand finished production ensures reliable performance
- Use of natural rubber in many products increases product stability and lifespan.
- Acoustic balls for Goalball and Torball are established and internationally recognised within their niche.
- Broad applicability across training, therapy and inclusive sports.

Partner Sought

Expected role of the partner

- Partners should introduce the products in their markets.
- They should make them available to the relevant user groups.
- Provide clear information to customers and help them choose suitable products.
- Ensure access to equipment for general sports and disability sports, including Goalball.

Sports clubs and associations use the products in training or rehabilitation programmes. Retailers and wholesalers keep the products in stock. They distribute them through their networks. Organisations involved in Goalball or other disability sports help promote and provide acoustic balls and related equipment within their communities.
